For Therapist Use:

Please read and initial each below to demonstrate agreement.

_____ I have listed all my known medical conditions and will inform the massage therapist of any change in my physical health between sessions. I understand that a massage therapist neither diagnoses nor prescribes for illness, disease, or any other medical, physical, or emotional disorder, nor performs any thrusting joint adjustments or spinal manipulations.

_____ If for any reason I feel my well-being is threatened or compromised or if I feel uncomfortable during the session, I agree to notify the therapist. I acknowledge I have full authority and responsibility, regardless of the reason, to determine if and when I may want the treatment paused, changed or stopped.

_____ I agree to speak with my therapist each session about any concerns, considerations, limitations or exclusions, alterations/variations I may wish to be addressed/honored during that session.

_____ I understand massage does not include work on genitalia. I also accept that breast, gluteal cleft or perineum massage will only be administered with explicit written and verbal permission and that a prescription/referral is required for nipple/areola massage.

_____ I understand the therapist reserves the right to refuse services for reasons of safety, or should my needs exceed the therapist knowledge, skill and abilities or scope of practice.

_____ I agree to give 24 hours notice if I must cancel my appointment(s).

_____ I understand that I have the option to bring someone in the room as a witness/support during treatment, and it is my responsibility to provide this person for any given session.

INFORMED CONSENT

This describes how massage may impact your health and wellbeing and clarifies where you are willing to receive massage and how you would prefer to be draped during the session. Please review it carefully before signing below.

General intended outcomes for massage: Applications of massage are commonly intended to decrease pain, increase function, balance and movement, decrease tension and restrictions for not only the structures being worked directly but also for related structures (many more structures are related than most perceive). In addition, massage can reduce the adverse impact of both physical and emotional stress and facilitate a state of relaxation. When applied to maturing scar tissue it may increase pliability and function of the scar regardless if the scar is a result of injury or surgery. A balance of both specific and general focused work can positively impact the effectiveness and duration of intended outcomes

Intraoral – In the mouth massage: Specific treatment inside the mouth, may reduce headaches, tempromandibular joint (TMJ) dysfunction, ear and sinus pain/pressure and reduce neck or shoulder pain.

Chest, rib and pectoral massage: Specific treatment to the breast bone, collar bones, ribs (including underarms), as well as the upper and lower chest immediately above and below and to the sides of the breast tissue, may reduce neck and shoulder pain, improve respiration, increase flow of blood and lymph fluid throughout the body.

Breast massage: Specific treatment of breast tissues is intended to improve breast health, reduce congestion and edema, reduce pain and increase range of motion of neck, trunk and shoulders/arms, increase breast awareness, facilitate nipple health and enhance breast awareness, enhance milk flow and production for breast feeding, ease discomforts of pregnancy and breastfeeding, improve respiration. Note: for specific nipple treatment a prescription is required.

Abdominal massage: Specific treatment for the abdomen, which includes the structures below the ribs and above the pubic bone, may reduce pain in the back, legs, trunk and abdomen, improve respiration, ease restrictions or dysfunction of abdominal organs, positively impact digestion and elimination and improve posture.

Buttock, upper thigh/groin, pelvic base, tail bones (Sacrum/Coccyx), gluteal cleft, perineum massage: Specific treatment of the buttocks, upper thigh/groin, pelvis, tailbones, gluteal cleft or perineum (between anus and genitals) may reduce back, abdominal, leg and pelvic pain, numbness and tingling, and positively impact digestion, elimination or menstrual issues, and effect posture.

Please check relevant boxes below based on intended outcomes for your massage. Note this determines consent and draping restrictions.

PRIVACY PRACTICES

This notice describes how your medical information is secured, how it may be used and disclosed and how you can access this information. Please review it carefully.

The following are the confidentiality and privacy practices of Dawn M. Schmidt, LMT (hereafter known as “the clinic”),

Client Rights

Clients may request, in writing, restrictions on records - limiting the way we use or disclose their medical information for treatment, payment, or healthcare operations or limiting access to their information by someone who is involved in their care. If the request is reasonable and legal we will agree to the request and honor the restriction.

Clients may request, in writing to view or obtain a copy of their records. The client may request that corrections be made if they identify errors or mistakes. Access to records will be made during regular business hours within 30 days of receipt of written request and a fee may be charged for copying and sending requested records. Requested records are sent standard US Mail unless the client requests them to be sent via express mail (at client’s expense).

A client may, at any time, revoke, in writing, permission to use or disclose medical information. If permission is revoked, medical information will no longer be used or disclosed for the reasons covered by the initial written authorization. That said, the client understands that the clinic is unable to take back any disclosures that were made with permission given prior to a written revocation and that in any event the clinic is required to retain records of the care that was provided.

Use of Records

Client records are used to document client health and treatment session information. All records when not in use are maintained in a locked file secured in the office. Client treatment records may be shared with primary care providers who are involved in patients health care.

Disclosure of Records

Client records and information is only released to anyone outside of the clinic with written authorization from the client unless compelled or required by federal, state or local laws or regulations (such as court order, subpoena, warrant, summons, discovery request, or other lawful process).

Client information may be disclosed when necessary to prevent a serious threat to client health and safety or the health and safety of the public or another person. Any disclosure, however, would only be to someone able to help prevent the threat from materializing.

Client medical information may be disclosed for health oversight agency activities if and only if required by law. These activities may include audits, investigations, inspections and licensure.

Client case information may be discussed with other health care providers only with written permission of the client.

At no time are client records sent electronically (e-mail or fax) unless specifically requested by the client or if compelled by law.

Changes to this Notice

The clinic reserves the right to change the terms of this notice at any time. The clinic reserves the right to apply revisions or changes to this notice effective for medical information already on file as well as any information received in the future. A copy of the current notice will be posted at the clinic office for client review. The notice will contain the effective date at the top of the the page.
